Army Asks Money to Build 30,000 Planes "for Knockout Blow"

Speedy Appropriation by Congress Taken for Granted Today

BULLETIN
Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—An unprecedented $12,525,872-474 appropriation for 33,000 new war planes was approved by the house with little debate today and sent to the senate.

Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—The house heard a solemn appeal today for speedy action on a $12,525,872,474 appropriation for 33,000 new planes to help achieve control of the air over the Russian front, the Mediterranean and the Pacific for the United States and its allies.

Opening debate on the unprecedented appropriation—the largest single military fund in the history of congress—Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the house appropriations committee told his colleagues:

"The whole issue of this war depends on taking and holding control of the air in every theater of the war."

"Until we have secured control over the Russian front, the Mediterranean and the Pacific we can begin our first step toward winning the war."

He noted that the 3,000 planes to be provided would by no means achieve President Roosevelt's goal of 60,000 planes this year and 125,000 in 1943.

"This is not to carry out that part of the President's program," Cannon said. "The principal purpose is to continue production at the present rate. Unless this money is provided, we will reach a peak of production in August."

Serious Dislocation Told
And he told of a serious dislocation ahead in industry—assembly lines that have been operating on automobiles, refrigerators and many other conveniences "are dead today."

Cannon said that by Feb. 1 those assembly lines would be stopped and quick shifts to wartime production would be required.

Strong endorsement of the plane program likewise came from the Republican side of the attentive house.

Lieutenant General H. H. Arnold, Deputy Chief of Staff for Air, said the program was necessary to build up an air force both for the United States and its allies, and told the house appropriations committee:

"We are not only accelerating the attainment of our original state of preparedness, but also are conducting combat operations and must concurrently build toward our offensive knockout blow."

"Now, by decisive action we must counteract the time advantage of the enemy. x x x It is considered essential that funds for this program be made available at the earliest possible date in order that the present facilities may prepare for further production and that the new facilities may be expedited."

For Complete Planes
Testimony by Arnold and other officials, made public today, showed that $7,144,056,340 of the fund—the largest single military appropriation in the history of congress—would go for complete airplanes. Another $1,547,948,529 has been allocated for armament, aircraft cannon, small arms ammunition, bombs and pyrotechnics.

Spare engines and parts will require almost $1,900,000,000, and new facilities to expedite production of the planes will take another $933,000,000. About $1,000,000,000 will be spent on supplies of the signal corps and reclaimed rubber. It was this provision which torpedoed girdles. Reclaimed rubber, experts say, cannot be used satisfactorily in material which is subject to recurrent stretching. After a few stretches, it doesn't bounce back into shape.

Specific permission must be obtained from the board before crude rubber or latex can be used to make tires or tubes, retreading material, insulating compounds, jar rings and other items. Further, WPB may at any time change specifications of all products on the approved list to reduce the amount of crude rubber used.

Equipment for printing and publishing is cut to 80 per cent; water bottles and ice bags to 75 per cent.

Only 30 per cent as much rubber footwear for women and athletes may be manufactured, but fire and mill hose output, necessary for civilian defense and increased industrial activity, is boosted 80 per cent.

Married Sisters, Unidentified Man, Slain on Highway

Baltimore, Jan. 23—(AP)—Two married sisters, one of them shot and the other stabbed, and an unidentified man, also shot, were found dead early today on a bush-lined roadside near Catonsville, Baltimore suburb.

Baltimore county police, reporting they found neither knife nor pistol near the scene, said it was possible the women and the man were slain elsewhere and their bodies dumped beside the road.

Sprawled about 50 feet apart at the end of the Johnny Cake road, the bodies were discovered by Harry Souers, a neighbor of the husband of one of the women, who said he came upon them on his way home from work.

Patrolman George Trammell and George Neeb confirmed Souers' discovery and notified Dr. George S. Kieffer, Baltimore medical examiner.

Man Not Identified
The women were identified as Mrs. Helen Johnson, 21, and her sister, Mrs. Irene Carter, 32. The man was not identified.

Leonard Johnson of Alberton, Md., husband of Mrs. Johnson, made the identification, police said.

Dr. Kieffer said the man had a bullet wound in the chest. Mrs. Johnson was shot through the head and her sister was stabbed in the left breast and slashed about the throat.

Catonsville police said Souers told them he came upon the bodies lying face upward, and about 50 feet apart, at 5:30 a. m.

It was not determined how long the victims had been dead.

Chief Oscar Grimes and other Baltimore county police searched the scene for weapons but said they found neither knife nor pistol.

Mutinous Crew Today Acclaimed as Heroes

Seattle, Jan. 23—(AP)—A mutinous crew that threw its officers into the brig to prevent their vessel from reaching Japan after the Pearl Harbor attack was given a heroes welcome in a Pacific ocean port today.

The crew of Russians, Chinese and Dutch aboard the Japanese-chartered freighter took it safely into an undiscovered port, authoritative sources reported, and turned the Japanese officers over to United States authorities.

The epic began when a Russian radio operator received reports of the attack on Pearl Harbor. The freighter was only twenty miles off the Japanese coast, en route to Yokohama with 4,000 tons of coal. Rather than go to the Japanese officers, he took the word to his fellow Russians. They enlisted the Chinese and Dutch in overpowering the officers.

Armed Bank Guards Urged by Sullivan

Chicago, Jan. 23—(AP)—A town guard organization of 4,700 armed men to combat robbery and other crimes in cooperation with regular Illinois law enforcement agencies is recommended by P. P. Sullivan, state director of Public Safety.

Speaking before the Illinois Bankers Association last night, Sullivan said a volunteer town guard force was needed in the face of increasing organized thievery and because manpower of established agencies was busy with new war duties.

Banks in Illinois still have 1,500 safes left over, he said, from a town guard force organized throughout the state in 1924 when Illinois was beset by a wave of bank robberies, and these arms could be used for part of a new force.

The story was related to a correspondent of the Soviet army newspaper Red Star by Private Natarov, one of the 28 who dragged himself to a field hospital, where he died shortly afterward.

This drama was set in the Volokalsk sector, where 29 soldiers—to begin with—were in a trench, armed with anti-tank guns and bottle bombs. This is Natarov's story.

British Troops in North Africa Suffer Startling Reverse

Axis Armies Strike in Sandstorm; Russian Advance Goes On

(By The Associated Press)
Russia's victorious Red armies, repeating the triumphs their forbears scored against Napoleon in 1812, drove the Germans 23 miles west of Moshaisk in a seven-mile, a-day advance today, while on the North African front, British desert troops underwent a startling reverse.

Coupled with their smashing triumph on the Moscow front, Russian troops advancing in a blinding snowstorm launched a drive to outflank the Nazi armies before Leningrad.

Dispatches said the Russians took the Germans by surprise in an attack on the 40-mile sector between Novgorod, just north of Lake Ilmen, and the Moscow-Leningrad railroad, resulting in "the most violent fighting of the new year."

On the southern (Ukraine) front, a late bulletin reported that Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's armies were continuing to advance along a 100-mile line between Kursk and Kharkov, Russia's "Pittsburgh."

To the north, Soviet troops were said to have recaptured 44 towns and villages in the Orel sector, 210 miles below Moscow, and it was reported that Orel itself, encircled for the past fortnight, may already have fallen.

Agedabia Recaptured
British Middle East headquarters acknowledged that axis mechanized forces, striking 90 miles northeastward from El Agedhia, had recaptured Agedabia, and it was apparent that Gen. Edwin Rommel had begun a full-fledged counter-offensive.

Agedabia, the scene of a brief axis stand after Gen. Rommel's armies had been thrown back 300 miles from the Egyptian-Libyan frontier, is 80 miles south of Bengasi on the Gulf of Sirte.

A Cairo bulletin said axis troops, screened by a swirling red

$300,000 Blaze in Illinois Capital

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23—(AP)—One of the most spectacular fires in this city's history caused damages estimated at $300,000 and threatened an entire business block before it was brought under control after a five-hour battle last night. Three firemen were overcome by smoke and three others received minor injuries.

The flames gutted a three-story building housing the J. C. Penney Company department store at 522 East Adams street on the south side of Springfield's courthouse square and destroyed the store's entire stock. The loss there was estimated at $250,000 by J. E. Crabtree, manager of the store, while an additional $50,000 in smoke and water damage was sustained by stores in adjoining buildings.

All fire-fighting equipment was called out and firemen played 18 streams of water into the blaze. At least 10,000 persons stood behind police lines to watch the battle.

The fire started shortly after 6 p. m. in the basement of the Penney store, but its cause was not definitely established.

Dramatic Story of 28 Courageous Russians on Central Front Is Told

Moscow, Jan. 23—(AP)—A dispatch from the central front told today of 28 Red army soldiers, crying "Moscow is behind us—there is no retreat", battling against 50 German tanks before losing their lives.

The story was related to a correspondent of the Soviet army newspaper Red Star by Private Natarov, one of the 28 who dragged himself to a field hospital, where he died shortly afterward.

Japs Start Peace Offensive to Get China Out of War

(Editor's Note: The following dispatch indicates that a Japanese peace offensive has been launched to detach China from the lineup of the United Nations.)

Tokyo, Jan. 23—(Official Broadcast Recorded by AP)—Addressing parliament this afternoon, Premier General Hideki Tojo reiterated Japanese willingness to accept any Chungking overtures for peaceful reconciliation if that regime changes its attitude.

He declared that although Japan has been fighting Chungking for five years she still regards China as a sister nation and has not changed her mind about receiving Chungking with open arms if she only rectifies her mistaken ideas.

"Japan is chastising a spoiled child who was pampered by Anglo-America", the premier stated. He asserted that past faults in China would vanish with the disappearance of Anglo-American influence.

"Now is the time for China's leaders to awaken and I take this occasion to urge them to do so."

London, Jan. 23—(AP)—Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, Chinese ambassador to London, told a press conference today he doubted "very much" the rumors that China might conclude a separate peace with Japan.

He said that the "situation in Malaya and the South Seas in general gives us cause for anxiety", but that he knew the government and the people were "confident of the ultimate outcome of the struggle."

Even if a statement about a separate peace had been made, he declared, "it would not in any way reflect either the feelings, the sentiments or the determination of the Chinese government."

Joliet Doctor Made State Criminologist

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23—(AP)—The appointment of Dr. Roy G. Barrick of Joliet as state criminologist was announced today by Governor Green.

Dr. Barrick will succeed Dr. Paul L. Schroeder of Chicago, who asked to be relieved of his duties as state criminologist to devote full time as director of the institute for juvenile research in Chicago. Dr. Barrick, who will take the new post Feb. 1, has been assistant state criminologist in charge of the Joliet prison diagnostic depot.

Police Soon to Stop Dilatory Motorists

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23—(AP)—State and local police will be asked "very soon" to halt motorists with 1941 license plates on their automobiles, it was announced today.

The secretary of state's automobile license department said that 850,000 1942 license plates has been sold and that applications were continuing at the rate of 50,000 daily. Last year 1,825,000 passenger cars were licensed but many took advantage of half year rates after July 1.

Recovered

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23—(AP)—Arthur Clause's habit of taking after-dinner naps with a toothpick in his mouth sent him to the hospital for a major operation.

After surgeons extracted a toothpick that had pierced an intestinal wall, Clause remembered that he couldn't find the toothpick after a nap two weeks ago.

Landing Locale Unstated

The locale of the Japanese landing in New Guinea was not given, but presumably the invaders put ashore near off-bombed Madang, on the northeast coast, 450 miles airline from Cape York, Australia, and 1,200 miles from Australia's great Port Darwin naval base.

Deputy Prime Minister Francis Forde, warning that "we must realize the gravity of the situation", said it was assumed that the Japanese had also landed at Rabaul, New Britain island, where the British garrison had withdrawn after firing and dynamiting dock installations at the approach of a Japanese flotilla of 11 ships late yesterday.

Subsequently, Forde announced that the only confirmed landing in the Bismarck archipelago—which includes New Britain, New Ireland and small adjacent isles—was at Keito, 250 miles southeast of Rabaul.

Nippon's March of Conquest Is Hitting at Land Down Under

United States Route to Pacific War Zone Is Threatened

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor
Japan's march of conquest struck directly toward Australia today as sea-borne Japanese troops landed in New Guinea, the Solomon islands and probably New Britain in a sweep jeopardizing not only the land "down under" but also United States routes to the Pacific war zone.

At its nearest point, New Guinea is only 100 miles across the Torres Strait from Cape York, northernmost tip of Australia.

Blazing forth like a star-shell against the somber background of the Pacific struggle, a war department bulletin reported that Gen. Douglas MacArthur's heroic defenders in the Philippines again had beaten off all Japanese attacks with bloody losses.

The communique said Japanese assault troops, strongly reinforced, had launched "extremely heavy" attacks in the past 24 hours only to be met by a withering fire from Gen. MacArthur's American-Filipino forces on Batan peninsula, across the bay from Manila.

Gen. MacArthur reported the invaders were making almost continuous attacks without regard to losses.

General News Dark
In general, the news was dark from all fronts in the far Pacific conflict, relieved only by word from Washington that the United States was beginning to pour a stream of reinforcements into what has been, until now, a lopsided struggle.

Critical hours again were at hand in the battles of Malaya and Burma.

Dutch heavy bombers and fighters lashed out at the Mikado's invasion hordes swarming into the South Sea islands, scoring 12 direct hits on eight Japanese warships and transports in the Strait of Masassar, between Dutch Borneo and Celebes island.

Military strategists emphasized the triple menace of Japan's new thrusts:

1. The war has been brought to territory within easy striking distance of Australia.

2. Japan has forced a new link in her chain of bases stretching south and east for 2,500 miles from Tokyo to the Solomon islands.

3. The United Nations' supply lines to the Dutch East Indies, Singapore, Burma and China have been sharply endangered.

From bases in New Guinea and in the 750-mile-long Solomon chain to the east, Japan may now command the vital Torres strait between Australia and New Guinea and force allied shipping into a 3,000-mile detour south of the Australia mainland.

In swift alarm, Australia ordered blackouts in all cities, militia units were equipped with full battle dress, and the commonwealth war cabinet was called in emergency session. Urgent new appeals were sent to Washington and London stressing the need for reinforcements.

Expect Republics to Act Soon Regardless of Argentine's Vote

Little Nations in Conference in Brazil Becoming Irked

Rio De Janeiro, Jan. 23—(AP)—A high conference source said today that representatives of the American republics would decide on the severance of relations with the axis this afternoon—without or without Argentina.

The Argentine foreign minister, Dr. Enrique Ruiz Guinazu, conferred for half an hour with the heads of Brazilian and United States delegations a short time earlier, and it was reported on good authority that he had submitted his country's counter proposals to the plan for rupture of relations.

The counter-proposal, these sources said, had been drafted by Ramon S. Castillo, acting president of Argentina. The Argentines yesterday balked at the wording of the conference's anti-axis resolution.

Little Nations Irked

Ruiz Guinazu first talked with Oswaldo Aranha, Brazil's foreign minister. They were joined by United States Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles. The conference leaders were expected to meet immediately to consider the Argentine proposal, the provisions of which were not disclosed.

Irked over repeated delays, a group of small nations—Honduras, Cuba, the Dominican Republic and Uruguay—talked today of drafting a "quit stalling" ultimatum to force action on the anti-axis resolution which has tied up the conference.

The little fellows of the conference were openly critical of yesterday's proceedings, which left them cooling their heels in committee rooms while the delegates of Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Mexico and the United States wrangled behind closed doors over the exact wording of the resolution calling for a diplomatic break with the axis.

The War Today!

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst
(Telegraph Special Service)

The disclosure by a high Washington official that American reinforcements and war equipment are moving into the western Pacific affords encouragement, although in these hard days results in battle are much more comforting than advance notices.

Time is a most important element, and the hope must be that sufficient aid will arrive in the immediate future from America or Britain to ease the Japanese pressure, especially on the Malay peninsula where the position is increasingly serious for the allies. The preservation of Singapore is essential, and so is the safeguarding of Burma, which is the life-giving source of the great Burma Road upon which China depends for her war supplies from the outside world.

As things now stand it would seem that help for the present will have to come chiefly from the United States, since it is unlikely that Britain will be able to spare much from the European theater. Certainly Australia, which today is worried over the possibility of a Jap attempt at invasion, must be expected to look mainly to Uncle Sam for assistance.

In other words, the weight of the battle of the Pacific must fall increasingly on Uncle Sam's broad (we believe) shoulders.

In the matter of the time element, the grand defense of the Philippines by General MacArthur and his stout minute men, has been a Godsend. The Dutch and British defense in the Malay-Singapore-Indies zone also has delayed the Japanese program.

The Mikado's forces themselves, however, have given the allies excellent cooperation through inability to move.

State institutions already have been asked by Welfare Director Rodney Brandon to observe four meatless days a month as a war-time economy measure.

Bad News Is Confirmed by WPB—No More Rubber Available for Girdles

By WILLIAM NEEDHAM
Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—Sorry, girls, but the War Production Board confirmed that bad news about girdles today.

After Feb. 1, an order declared, no more crude rubber or latex may be used in manufacturing girdles or other foundation garments, golf and tennis balls, erasers, bathing suits and caps, lawn and garden hose and hundreds of other common household items.

Extending already strict government control over the rubber industry, the board made public a long list of "essential" products which may be manufactured; established production quotas for each class of products, and directed that use of crude rubber for a wide variety of "essential" civilian goods be reduced about 75 per cent below recent annual consumption.

After Feb. 1, the order stipulated, all products not on the list may be manufactured only from

Compromise Price Control Bill Now Ready for Passage

Some Sponsors Predict Measure Will Be Most Unpopular Law

Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—An amendment-patched wartime price control measure which some sponsors said "may prove more unpopular than new taxes" was ready for final congressional action today.

Wary senate-house conferees agreed on its terms last night after nearly two weeks of legislative blanket pulling which ended in adjustment of wide differences between the two chambers of congress and the White House.

Rep. Steagall (D-Ala.), who teamed with two Democratic colleagues to break the conference deadlock, predicted that the house would accept the bill as amended in conference because "there were compromises on both sides."

Senate approval likewise was foreseen by Senators Brown (D-Mich) and Bankhead (D-Ala.).

Brown, who said the measure might prove even less popular than taxes, estimated that food costs might rise as much as 11 to 15 per cent under the compromise measure because of restrictions placed

City of Rochelle Now Defense Area

(Telegraph Special Service)

Rochelle, Jan. 23—Rochelle has been made a defense area by Carroll Sweet, Chicago, in charge of federal housing priorities for the War Production Board, formerly the OPM, and as such will be assured of priority in material for building homes for defense workers here.

The order, which probably means at least 75 new homes here this year to relieve the current acute housing shortage, was issued following a visit paid Mr. Sweet yesterday by Mayor W. B. McHenry, Secretary of Chamber of Commerce Harvey C. Hewitt and Phil W. May, president of the Rochelle Rotary club.

Citizen Soldiers of Illinois Doing Good Job as Guards

War Close to Home for Reserve Militiamen at Various Points

Grafton, Ill., Jan. 23—(AP)—The war is close to home for the citizen soldiers of the Illinois Reserve Militia who have dropped their every day jobs temporarily for the task of guarding important Mississippi river bridges, munitions plants and key airports.

Typical of the "home guards" called to active duty when bombs fell at Pearl Harbor are the militiamen walking post at the nitroglycerine plant of the Illinois Powder Manufacturing Company, on the banks of the Mississippi two miles south of here. It's a weary job—and mighty uncomfortable during the sub-zero cold wave, too—but the militia is cheerfully doing its part to back up the fighting forces.

Sixty men whose normal occupations range from bookkeeping to farming are getting a taste of military life on guard at the powder plant.

At 17 bridges over the Mississippi, from Cairo to East Dubuque, and around airports at Chicago, Joliet, Peoria and Springfield, some 300 others are on guard against possible sabotage.

Guard assignments are being rotated among the 5,000 Militia members so that the longest term of active duty for any one man is about two weeks.

The guard assignment during most of the cold wave, which sent the mercury down to six below zero here, fell to 64 officers and men of Company B, Fourth Infantry, commanded by Capt. Wayne Cox of Edwardsville.

Soldiering New to Most
Only a dozen of the Edwardsville company were veterans of World War I so soldiering was new to most of the outfit.

"It's been pretty cold," Sgt. Robert Liebler of Edwardsville, said, "but most of the men are getting quite a kick out of it. Some of them want to stay over after the company is relieved. One farm boy said he'd rather be on active duty than working on the farm during the winter."

Armed with rifles, the militiamen on guard duty spend two hours walking post and four more sleeping or lounging about the guardhouse at the powder plant. After 24 hours on duty, they are relieved and return to barracks at the CCC camp in nearby Pere Marquette state park, where they spend the next 24 hours at drill, hiking over the scenic hills or playing pool in the camp recreation hall.

Had Heavy Underwear

Despite the fact that uniforms were of summer-weight cotton drill, Lieut. E. C. Shaw of Edwardsville, a chemical engineer at the Shell Oil Company refinery at Wood River, said that heavy underwear, knitted wool helmets and woolen overcoats kept the men warm during the cold wave. Only casualty was a private who suffered frost-bitten fingers.

Woolen uniforms obtained from the U. S. army are now being distributed to replace the blue cotton militia uniform. Like others in Company B, Lieut. Shaw, who is an Army Reserve officer, expects to see service in the regular army before the war ends. Many of the militiamen are eligible for the draft and during the company's two-week guard tour, six were summoned for physical examinations preliminary to being inducted.

"Most of us are in the Reserve Militia because we feel it is a patriotic duty," declared Sgt. Liebler, who is a guard at the Western Cartridge Company at Alton. "It's good training and will help those of us who are called for the regular army."

Adjutant General Leo M. Boyle, who is drawing plans to increase the militia from its present strength of 5,200 officers and men to 10,000, believes men who have been deferred from regular army induction should join the militia for use in case of emergencies.

U. S. Army officers requested use of the Reserve Militia to guard bridges and airports and other areas vital to the war effort and General Boyle said that Major General J. M. Cummins, Commander of the Army's Sixth Corps Area, has commended the efficiency of the state troops.

When not on active duty militiamen drill one night a week. The legislature did not provide payment for drill but allotments for active duty range upward from the $4 a day paid privates.

America on Way to Outbuild the World in Planes and Tanks

Armament Production to Be Tripled Says Official Summary

Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—With "good strong foundations" already established, America is on its way today to "outbuilding the world" in planes and tanks—the "two most important weapons" in modern war—and is stepping up rapidly all lines of war output.

Moreover, said a red, white and blue bordered "Report to the Nation" issued by the newly-formed Office of Facts and Figures, the navy has 346 new combat vessels under construction—double its present strength; contracts have been let for 999 merchant ships; the army is expanding toward a possible 7,000,000 men, and economic warfare is proceeding on world-wide fronts.

The report, first official summary of the defense-war effort since the government clamped down on publication of production figures several months ago, was prepared at the request of President Roosevelt. It covered the period from the fall of France in 1940 to Pearl Harbor and on to the end of 1941.

Some of the highlights of the 20,000 word report:
Production of all weapons and supplies will be increased nearly 300 per cent in 1942 over the last 18 months.

Army warplane production has been "stepped up to the point where, with Great Britain, we soon will exceed the plane output of the axis countries. More important, we will have the plant capacity to increase our production to the point where we can seize control of the air in all areas of the world struggle".

Four Types of Combat Planes
The United States now has four types of army combat planes

Garageman Kills Seven-Year-Old Daughter and Himself; Wife Escapes

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 23—(AP)—Arthur Beck, 40-year-old garage owner, shot and killed his 7-year-old daughter and himself, Coroner William J. Strode said last night. The coroner said Beck had been despondent. He said Beck's wife ran from the house at the time of the shooting, her screams attracting a nearby patrolman. The mother, however, was too hysterical to give a coherent account.

Three DeKalb County Rural Schools Plan Earlier Graduation

DeKalb, Ill., Jan. 23—(AP)—Three rural high schools in DeKalb county will hold classes six days a week the rest of the school year to free pupils for farm work next spring.

The schools at Malta, Lee and Shabbona will close about May 9, three weeks earlier than usual.

Hall is formed by droplets of water being carried upward to freezing heights by rising draughts of warm air.

"better than anything yet produced abroad, so far as is known. x x American bomber types now in mass production are superior to those built anywhere else in the world".

Plane and tank production this year will equal that of Hitler "in all the years before 1939 when he was preparing to conquer the world."

Despite "all handicaps", production of tanks and combat vehicles is more than three times that of a year ago; guns of all types nearly five times as large; ammunition, nine times. "We already are producing light and medium tanks in quantities and the first heavy tank was delivered to the army the day we declared war on Japan".

Before Pearl Harbor
At the time of the attack on Pearl Harbor, the navy was building 15 battleships to add to its 17 already built; 11 aircraft carriers building, 7 built; 54 cruisers building, 37 built; 193 destroyers building, 171 built; 73 submarines building, 113 built—in all 346 building, 345 built.

Lend-lease supplies have expanded from a trickle to a stream that "must become a river, a torrent, and then a flood". These funds have helped the army ferrying command deliver more than 1,000 planes purchased by Britain, and are bulwarking Far Eastern defenses through construction of British bases at Rangoon in Burma, at Karachi on the Arabian sea, and other vital outposts on the Persian Gulf and in Eritrea.

The report said 5,000,000 workers had been drawn into war industries and 15,000,000 more would be needed by 1944.

An estimated 500,000 women and girls are already at war jobs, many in aircraft plants. A woman's "Land Army" may have to be recruited to meet a threatened shortage of farm labor.

Miners in Eight Peoria District Mines to Quit
Peoria, Ill., Jan. 23—(AP)—Members of the Amalgamated Progressive Miners, local 172, voted last night to strike at eight coal mines in the Peoria and Pottstown area.

Ray Tombazzi, union organizer, said an estimated 150 men were involved.

He said the strike was called when operators deferred signing contracts calling for prevailing wage rates. He said the mine operators were not members of the Operators Association and hence had to be dealt with separately.

The average German worker, according to estimates, worked 56 hours a week and earned $8, in 1939.

A sheet of parchment nearly 3 feet square was required for the royal wedding certificate of the Duke of Kent.

Agents Wounded When Gun Falls From Shelf

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 23—(AP)—Two special agents for the strike-bound Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad were wounded accidentally yesterday, Deputy Sheriff Ralph Goar reported.

Goar said the wounded men, Roy Honeycutt, 34, and Raymond A. Wheeler, 35, both of Canton, were in a bunkhouse on railroad property when Wheeler reached to put his gun on a shelf. The weapon fell to the floor and discharged, the bullet striking Wheeler in both legs and Honeycutt in the groin. Honeycutt's condition was considered serious.

A Thought for Today

How long halt ye between two opinions?—I Kings 18:21.A doubtful throne is ice on summer seas.—Tennyson.

Let's Not Kid Ourselves

Because a 56-year-old man who insisted on boxing with heavyweights, running a quarter-mile in close to a minute, and swimming rivers suddenly dropped dead of a heart attack, some amateur strategists assume that the German high command is falling to pieces.This is wishful thinking, and it does no good at all to speculate along these lines. Von Reichenau, the German general concerned, may have had no heart trouble before, but he has certainly been flir-ting with it for a long time if the reports of his athletic exhibitionism are correct. After grueling military campaigns in which he has been under great strain continually, he falls dead. So what?
As to his own internal condition it proves something or other. As to the internal condition of Germany it proves nothing.Mussolini is a vain, fat, baldheaded man of 59, who also loves to go around thumping on his bare chest in emulation of youth virility. He, too, may well be flirting with the undertaker, but that doesn't prove that Italy is about to break into thirty thousand pieces.The sooner we stop wishful thinking about how soon the axis countries are going to fall apart, and get busy tearing them apart, the better it will be for us.We must fight all the way. It will not do to mark time complacently until 1943 when our legendary volume of production will so astound the Axis partners that they will all simultaneously fall flat on their faces.We must fight in 1942. We must fight now. We must fight in the Philippines, giving General Mac-Arthur and his admirable fighting men any support we can. We must fight in Malaya and at Midway Island. We must fight in the Dutch Indies and in Australia. We must get the men and the planes on the scene and fight—now. Fortunately there are signs that it is being done.Germany, badly mauled as her eastern army has been in the Russian campaign, is by no means through. No competent military observer doubts that she is able right now to take the offensive in other theaters, and may well be back pounding at the door of Russia in the spring. The British victory in Libya, while magnificent, is inconclusive as long as Tripoli remains in German-Italian-Vichy hands. Japan has not yet lost a trick and shows no sign whatever of weakness.

This year is not just one long year to sit and wait for 1943. The French tried that on their Maginot Line and regretted it later. This is a year to fight, not to sit open-mouthed waiting for a break in the form of Axis cave-ins.

Japanese Sparkplug

For 200 years prior to 1854 Japan kept her doors closed to the world, an isolationist nation in the most fundamental sense of the word. Rulers of the island kingdom had shut out all foreigners for the purpose of preserving Japanese thought and preventing the entrance of new things—to use their own statements.In this desire to keep away from the world the Japanese had a touch of the then prevailing Chinese sentiment. The Chinese, too, opposed vigorously but not successfully all attempts of outsiders to "penetrate" the Celestial empire.The similarity between the Japanese and Chinese attitudes was not incongruous, because both peoples are Mongolian, with mentalities trained in the way of Mongolian thinking. And even their thoughts are hard to understand because of the peculiarities of their way of writing. It might be said they don't think the way Americans think.Following this line of reasoning one can arrive at the idea that a Chinese can do whatever a Japanese can do. If spurred properly, he might do whatever a Japanese has done. There is no vast, fundamental difference between the two nations.When Commodore Matthew C. Perry sailed a squadron of Yankee gunboats into a Japanese harbor in 1854 and virtually compelled the Japanese government to sign a treaty of friendship and commerce with the United States, he started something —as we know very well today. We have been buying silk and low-priced articles, such as toys and novelties, from the Japs ever since. On the other hand, we have been selling them huge quantities of materials with which to make war. And they have made war, as we know very well today. They have more than held their own with China, and have walloped Russia.Japan is a smallish nation with an effective fighting population of about 70 or 75 million, not counting the Manchurians, Koreans and Formosans.Suppose, however, that Japan had a population of 450 millions, all endowed with the same spark-plugs that animate the Japs in their design to achieve military, commercial and racial parity with the so-called civilized white races! Suppose the Japs had plenty of natural resources, such as iron, oil, rubber, chrome, tungsten and rich soil, and a population of 450 million instead of about 75 million, and suppose, further, that they were to go on the warpath!All this is the picture of what we might face
if the Chinese were to be bitten by the same bug that has nipped Nippon. Roughly speaking, this hypothetical Japanese nation could put 90 million men into the field, as against the 33 million which could be spared by the combined powers of the United States and Britain.Let us all be thankful that when Perry went a-visiting with that sparkplug, he didn't unload it in China instead of in Japan.It has been said that China's increase in population is so fast that if the nation were organized into a marching column, four abreast, and set in motion, the column could go on marching past a given point forever at the rate of four miles an hour.News
BEHIND
THE NEWS
By PAUL MALLON(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., Reproduction in Whole or in Part Strictly Secretary Knox has been trimmed behind the ears—both in congress and downtown—since his speech announcing the Atlantic was clear (a day or so before the nazi subs showed), and proclaiming Hitler our major enemy, to the dismay of the Chinese.A man not so far from Roosevelt has observed that the subs apparently came for Churchill

"but might get Knox", (meaning, of course, Knox's official position.)A group of four congressional leaders went so far as to discuss the matter with Roosevelt. They (Barkley, George, Rayburn and McCormack) talked about issuing a public statement on the "major enemy" angle to let China know officially that Knox should not be taken to literally. It was decided Senator George would compose a short-wave speech to the Chinese people. Roosevelt made it clear subsequently in his press conference, that the battle of the Far East is being waged harder than the battle of the Atlantic.Off-heard in congressional cloakroom was the advice that "Knox should run the navy and quit making speeches."If you are perplexed to understand why labor's No. 1 aggressor John Lewis has suddenly sprouted wings of peace you are not alone.
Bill Green's right hand public relations man in AFL, Philip Pearl, is writing with lifted eyebrow, in the current issue of the AFL Bulletin:"What new form of skulldug-gery is John Lewis up to now?"My guess is that Lewis wanted to remove the political curse which has rested upon his ample shoulders since the sit-down strikes, and lead a genuine movement for peace, figuring it must come anyway, as organizational competition between CIO and AFL has been pushed to the point of more or less truce by the war.Others are more skeptical. They ask: If Lewis really wanted peace, why did he not consult Phil Murray before speaking out? Does he not know months of negotiations would be necessary to iron out such jurisdictional conflicts as exist among electrical workers for instance? Who planted the unwaranted story that AFL's Meany would take over the joint unified labor movement with Phil Murray as secretary?To effect labor peace, both CIO and AFL would have to come forward with a certified public ac-countant's list of paid up members. Delegates chosen at the ratio, say, of 1 for each 100 paid up members would have to go into a convention and vote the new organizational set-up.That time does not seem to be near, but moves by Lewis are coming.The war has not stopped the political appetite here for pork. They merely are stamping an American flag on it.Loaded to the brim was the near-billion dollar rivers and harbors bill. The administration wanted to get about a quarter of a billion for the St. Lawrence project, so it first allowed the addition of the Florida ship canal and other juicy political projects. But then the bill was so fat, they were afraid to bring it up in the house.It rested weeks on the clerk's desk until the bill was brought before the house. The bill was recently. The leaders could not longer avoid the issue, and decided to trim off the worst of their own fat
and try to get it through.Senate leaders served notice on the house that the bill would never get out of the senate commerce committee with all that private house adipose tissue. The outcome is still doubtful.The railroads, radio and Pacific coast business men were behind the trimming of Roosevelt's daylight savings power, limiting him to the action he took, moving up the clocks one hour, beginning February 9. It was quite an inside fight.The administration man who handed the bill (Wayne Coy, federal accountant) until the house encountered vacant periods recently. The leaders could not longer avoid the issue, and decided to trim off the worst of their own fat
and try to get it through.Senate leaders served notice on the house that the bill would never
get out of the senate commerce
committee with all that private house adipose tissue. The outcome is still doubtful.

Taken to Task by Federation HeadWashington, Jan. 23—(AP)—
Mrs. John L. Whitehurst of Baltimore, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, told 1,200 clubwomen from all parts of the nation today that she had "never known the women to quarrel so bitterly" for places of leadership as they are doing in the war program."Selfishness is dominating our people today," Mrs. Whitehurst asserted, and warned that bickerings over places of preferment could cause the downfall of democracy."Hitler has stated many times," she said, "that due to our heterogeneous mass of people we would be easy to conquer, that we would fight among ourselves until we would weaken our defense mechanism."Mrs. Whitehurst did not spare the men, saying they had the same shortcomings as women, as she took the women to task for their "bickering and quibbling" and said:Says Few Want to Work
"The majority want to be generals, but few want to work without honor of some kind. They ask repeatedly, 'Who is to be the boss?' 'Will I have the division?'
'May I wear a uniform?'"Reporting on her travels to urge state and local federations to set up strong defense units, the federation president said women had attacked her as a "war monger" but that she had urged preparedness always with a spiritual attitude that we would fight for something "more than the defeat of Hitler and the Japs.""Let us," she said, "send our boys into battle if necessary with the song 'Onward Christian soldiers' on their lips instead of the silly marching songs which are so incongruous at such a time. Let us stop using such expressions as 'Slap the Japs' and 'Fight the Huns.' Such expressions develop a hate complex which will leave its mark on our people for generations to come."

NOSE PICKING

May be a Sign of

WORMS

Don't blame your child! It looks like just a nasty habit, but it may mean that ugly, crawling roundworms are starting trouble inside the child right now. Other warning signs are: "picky" appetite, dizziness, uneasy stomach, itching seat.Anybody, anywhere, can "catch" roundworms! If you even suspect your child has them, get Jayne's Vermifuge right away!
It's America's leading proprietary worm medicine. Scientifically tested, and used by millions for over a century.Jayne's expels stubborn worms, yet acts gently. If no worms are there, it is just a mild laxative. Demand Jayne's Vermifuge.

Mowry thinks Oliver is after gold at Tambay. Juddy, ill after a lynching at the Hanging Tree, tells Maurice Sears she will leave Tambay if it ever happens again.
Angel picks a fight with "Doc," whose course he is flunking.

DOC SAYS "FORGET IT"

CHAPTER XVII

WE got Doc up the bank to his cabin, and a job it was. He put up a squawk about my understanding him, so I chased Juddy over to the house for bandages and hot water."Kept slipping Angel and shooting your left, huh?" I said.

He sort of grunted.

"That's a boxer's trick," I said.

"You never learned that stuff,
digging Wandos, Doc.""I used to box some in college.
It isn't necessary to say anything about this outside, Mom," he said."There's a couple of ribs wrong, by my guess," I said. "It's a doctor's job."Juddy came in just then. "I'll drive him over to Dr. Starrow's," she said.She had him back in an hour, strapped up neatly. When she came to my room there were those small lines between her eyes that always made me think of a baby in trouble."I don't believe it was Angel's fault," she said. "There's something queer about it. Loren told the doctor he lost his way in the fog and fell over the cliff.""Uh-huh," I said. "And what did Doc have to say to you, himself?"

"Nothing. He wouldn't talk."

"Maybe Angel can get away with it yet," I said. "I didn't care whether he did or not, except that I was half afraid Juddy would follow him if he got can-cled out of Welliver. I believe Doc is figuring it's bad medicine, getting into a scrap with one of his own students. Undignified and all that. So it'd be to his own interest to keep it dark.""It's a bright and shining thought," Juddy said. "My theory is I'd better see Angel before he gets any deeper in the soup."NEXT morning we caught Angel at Welliver early. He spoke up, light and airy as a breeze."Better pack the keister, honey," he said. "Mr. and Mrs. Allan A.Todd will be northward bound in search of a job my pronto, followed by the boots but not the good wishes of the faculty."

"Perhaps you're not leaving."

"After last night? What an optimist!""Wait and see. You haven't told anyone, have you?""No. But what's the use?
They're not going to believe that I got these alterations to my map at a church social.""My theory is," she said, "that your car tipped over and rolled down a bank.""Yeah? And what's Oliver's theory? How's he feeling?""It's about time you asked," I said. "We had to take him to a doctor.""He told me to be on my way, so I thought he was okay. Who'd-a believed he could put up such a scrap? Come to think of it, I did hear he played football at Penn."

"Chess," I said.

"Skip it!" Juddy said, quite cross."He'll get me, all right. He feels I've insulted his pet Wandos.
And he's the kind that never lets up on a grudge. Look at that snapping-turtle face.""I think he's got rather a nice face," Juddy said, and then looked kind of surprised at herself.For a week after that Juddy was absent-minded. I wondered if she didn't have Angel and the fight on her mind. Not a word out of Doc on the subject though.
But he did ask me whether Juddy wasn't feeling well. Not much got past that bird."She'd feel better," I told him,
"if she knew whether you're going to be a sport or not."

"Definitions differ," he said.

"Are you reporting Angel
Todd?" I asked him."Oh, that! That's a private matter. Besides, I hit him first.""Sure!" I said. "And the ant socked the elephant in the puss for making faces at him.""When you know you've got to fight, it's the best plan," he said, passing up my crack. "Tell Todd that unless he talks, I certainly shan't."When I passed that on to Juddy, she said, "I'd like to kiss Loren Oliver if I didn't think it would scare him out of a year's growth."NEXT term's prospects didn't look too favorable for Angel.
The Examining Board sidestepped by returning his Am. Eth. paper, marked "Unsatisfactory." That handed him the exam to take over again, and on top of it gave him the whole term's class work to make up.

RECEIVE PAINTING
Among the many gifts presented to the M. C. Stitzels of Nelson on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary recently was a large oil painting by Percy H. Sloan, well-known Chicago artist and instructor.

The scene, taken from an etching, was originally sketched by Mr. Sloan as a young man, while employed as an engineer during construction of the southern division of the Southern Illinois railroad at Nelson.

The artist, who has long been an instructor of mechanical drawing in Chicago high schools, stayed at the M. C. Stitzel farm for some time, and the painting he presented to the couple is his impression of the Rock river, looking west at the edge of their farm.

Celebrate Golden Wedding in East

—Telegraph Photo and Engraving

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lehman

The Lehmans, who reside at 911 Peoria avenue, returned recently from the east, after celebrating their golden wedding anniversary, Jan. 7, at Mrs. Lehman's girlhood home, near Hagerstown, where they were married half a century ago. A nephew of Mrs. Lehman, Charles Hykes, now resides at the home, where she was born, spent her girlhood, and became a bride.

Following their marriage, the Lehmans spent a few days in Washington City, before coming westward to establish a home near Dixon. In 1889, they moved to Dixon, where Mr. Lehman has since operated a cleaning establishment.

During their two-week stay in the east, the Lehmans visited friends and relatives at Hagerstown, Greencastle, Chambersburg, Waynesboro, Lancaster, and Lititz, Pa.

Guests included Allan Hanson, Charles LeSage, Jr., Julia LeSage, Gwynne Sykes, Janice LeSage, Nancy Rorer, Douglas Dysart, Henry Utley, William Dixon, and Dickie's little sister, Elizabeth, seven months old, who was attending her first party. Five others on the guest list, Billy Beanblossom, Betty Jane Branigan, Ellen Rorer, and Louise and James Dixon, could not attend because of illness.

Community Players Give Satisfying Reading of Comedy

When people go to the theater, they wish to be diverted, and the surest form of diversion is a long and hearty laugh. This is why Dixon's recently-formed "little theater" group, the Community Players, decided to present hilarious comedy, "The Patsy," last evening as the second show of their first season behind the footlights. Close to 500 play-goers, the Players estimate, witnessed the performance staged in the Loveland Community House auditorium.

Plays of this type are supposed to be funny, and "The Patsy" is much funnier than the average farce-comedy. The story concerns itself with a family divided against itself, with the father and his younger daughter as likeable as any father and daughter are supposed to be, and the mother and elder daughter occupied principally with "keeping up with the Jones", at any cost.

The Patsy, as principal feminine character of the play, experiences all the trying situations that beset a younger sister whose easy-going nature and a tyrannical mother force her to play "the Patsy" to a vain and spoiled older sister. Fortunately, the Patsy has the wisdom to divert the love of one of her sister's two suitors toward herself by the simple application of his own suggested cure as a "Lonesome club" member, but not before the haughty older sister upsets her friends and family alike with a series of selfish outbursts in her attempts to snatch at love and happiness.

The Players, for the most part, did an excellent job with the dialogue, and there seemed to be minimum of line-muffing and other traditional ills. Hours of hard work went into the preparations for last night's play, and the cast members were rewarded with a satisfying, smooth-running production.

Louise Black displayed a decided flair for the role of the sportsmanlike Patsy Harrington and Lorraine Baker of Sterling carried a large part of the dialogue expertly, as the despicable older sister, Grace. Patricia Connelly, also of Sterling, did the role of the girls' fault-finding hysterical mother, and did it extremely well. E. Arthur Hill gave the role of Tony Anderson, a real estate dealer at first in love with Grace but who finally claims Patsy for his sweetheart—an understanding interpretation, and Lynn Jenks was especially good as Billy Caldwell, a socialite, who finds a "kindred spirit" in Grace. Harold Wade of Oregon, as the long-suffering father who asserts his rights as man of the house only after a long and hectic interlude of weeping and fault-finding on the part of his wife and older daughter; Louis L. Leydig (Mr. O'Flaherty), an attorney who occasionally acts as escort to Patsy; Rose Sterling (Saide Buchman), a friend of Billy's, whose presence provokes one of Grace's many "scenes"; and Richard Belcher

WA-TAN-YANS ARE SUPPER GUESTS

As guests of Miss Gertrude Wilhelm's hostess committee, business and professional women of Wa-Tan-Ye were enjoying a chop suey supper last evening at the home of Miss Helen Parker. Miss Mary Alice Buchanan, the club president assisted the hostesses. Covers for about 24 members were arranged at small tables seating four. Following the supper, a brief business meeting was conducted by Miss Buchanan, material for a chapter scrapbook was discussed, and announcement was made of the annual "heart sister" party, to take place Feb. 5. Mrs. Larry Poole, Miss Hazel Hecker and Mrs. Helen Schickley compose the ebriary hostess committee.

Harold Sheaffer of the Cook floral shop force is wearing a bandage on his right hand, the result of a severe cut which required surgeon's stitches to close.

GUEST CONDUCTOR

Percy Grainger, famous composer who was heard in concert here a few seasons ago under auspices of the Dixon Concert League, will be guest conductor when the Gustavus Adolphus choir of St. Peter, Minn., sings at Zion Lutheran church in Rockford at 8 p. m. He will also direct Song of Vermeland, Swedish folk song, which he has arranged especially for the singers.

The noted composer is deeply interested in Scandinavian culture, and is married to the Swedish poetess, Ella Strom. G. Adolph Nelson, brilliant composer-conductor, is the regular director of the choir, known as the "cathedral choir of the Augustana synod."

(Trip Busty), a taxi driver, completed the cast.

The play was directed by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Redebaugh. Mrs. Redebaugh assisted. Mr. Wade with the direction of the Players' first production, "The Male Animal," presented several weeks ago. Choice of the Players' third and final play of the season has not yet been announced.

W. J. Hammonds Are Wed 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Hammond, residing south of Leaf River, observed their fiftieth wedding anniversary at their home on Tuesday. Because of the ill health of Mr. Hammond, a retired farmer, no celebration was planned, although the couple were remembered with many gifts and greeting cards.

It was on Jan. 20, 1892 that Miss Ada Caroline Thomas, eldest daughter of George S. and Mary (Butterbaugh) Thomas became the bride of William J. Hammond, son of William A. and Sarah (Willard) Hammond, at the home of the bride's parents, the couple's present home. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Joseph Lehman of Mt. Morris in the presence of the immediate families of the bridal pair.

The bride was attired in a sky blue gown, and wore a corsage of pink rosebuds. After a honeymoon in Chicago, the couple returned to Eagen, where they made their home with the bridegroom's parents for more than a year. Afterward, they moved to the Butterbaughs' old brick homestead, Mrs. Hammond's birthplace, located on what is now known as the Merritt Felker farm. In 1895 they moved to their present home, the former George S. Thomas farm. The couple's only son, Earl, is deceased.

WHO'S NEW CLUB

Members of the Who's New club will entertain with a scramble supper Wednesday evening, Feb. 3, with their husbands as guests. Made Licensing Agent—

County Clerk Sterling Schrock was notified today of his selection to serve in a new capacity in Lee county. A communication from the Bureau of Mines at Washington, D. C., named the Lee county clerk as explosives licensing agent in the county. No compensation is provided for the officer, whose duty is to issue permits which are required under a new war-defense act, passed by congress, governing the sale and possession of explosives.
Automobile Throws Wheel—
An accident on the Galena avenue bridge at 9:30 o'clock this morning might have proven quite serious, but fortunately little damage resulted. A car travelling north threw a wheel shortly after driving onto the bridge and the wheel crossed over to the west railing, striking the concrete grill, then bounced back into the south traffic lane. Fortunately there were no cars or pedestrians in the pathway of the wheel and the car, which dropped down on the axle, stopped without any great damage resulting.

Co. Tire Quota Received—

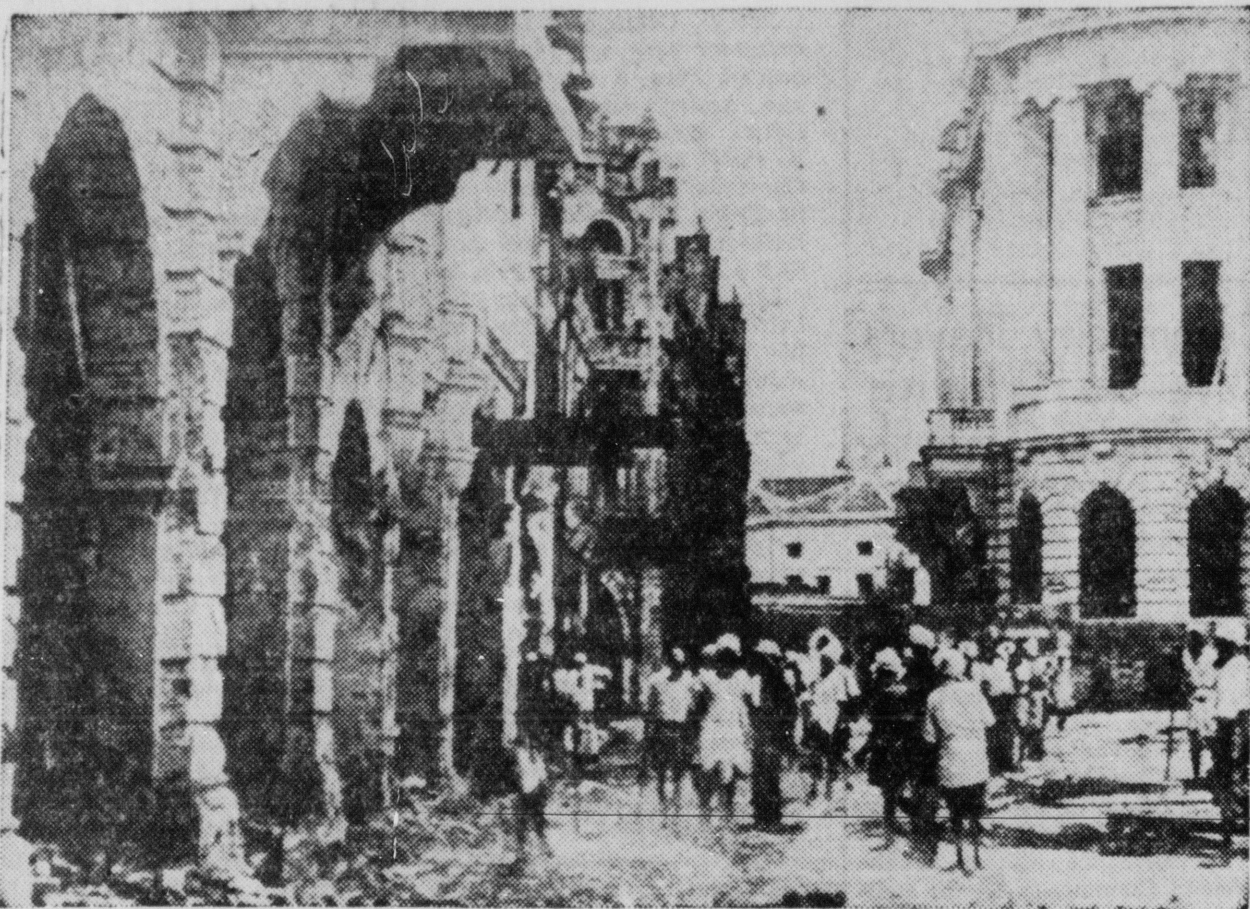

Th Lee county tire rationing board today received the quota of tires to be distributed during the month of February, which, contrary to expectations, is much lower than the quota for January. For pleasure cars the quota of tires is 22 for February, whereas 25 was the limit for the present month. The number of truck tires has also been lowered from 92 for January to 69 for February. The quota of tubes is also lowered slightly but the board reports very limited applications for this type of accessory. Beginning Monday, the board will operate under a new schedule of hours. The board will be in session from 1 to 3 o'clock on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons.

Senate Votes Money for Defense Probe

Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—The senate voted $60,000 additional funds today to its defense investigating committee, headed by Senator Truman (D-Mo.), to continue inquiry into the war production program.

Chairman Lucas (D-Ill.) said the senate audit committee had cut the amount from the $100,000 previously requested by Truman when the latter agreed the smaller amount would be sufficient for this year. The Truman group, which already had spent $40,000, recently criticized the progress of the defense program in a report.

Story of Suicide Dive of British Pilot Told

London, Jan. 23—(AP)—A British pilot's suicide dive into a Japanese landing craft in which 60 Japanese, all aboard, were wiped out during the beginning of the conflict on Malaya was reported today by the air ministry.

The Air Ministry's news service said the incident occurred during Japanese landings at Kota Bharu, in extreme northeastern Malaya near the Thailand frontier.

The British plane was damaged, the account said, and the pilot deliberately turned and dived into one of the landing craft.

chemical warfare service.
Arnold said that the requested program, except for heavy bombers, was a continuation of the present rate of production and was made before President Roosevelt asked congress for 6,000 planes in 1942 and 125,000 in 1943.

Is "Preliminary Step"

In recommending speedy house action, the appropriations committee made it clear that the program was a "preliminary step" toward Roosevelt's goal of 60,000 planes this year and 125,000 in 1943, and that still more huge sums of money would have to be allocated.

The committee said in a report on the measure:
"The funds in this bill will prevent a decline that would occur next August in airplane production due to the fact that existing orders would run out by that time. It will fill up new capacity heretofore appropriated for that will be in production by that time, and increase the capacity for the production of bomber types."

Noting that there had been "great increases" in the unit cost of planes and plane parts, the committee recommended that the war department give close attention to the problem of preventing further price rises.

The report said that the big appropriation was a part of the $55,000,000 war expenditure program for 1943 outlined by Roosevelt in his budget message to congress early this month.

Brought out elsewhere in the hearings also was the following disclosure:

New airplane and other production plants will be built in the interior rather than along the coasts where they might be subject to enemy attacks.

House Committee Out for Relief for Tire Dealers, Independent

Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—The house small business committee warned government officials generally today that unless action is taken soon for the relief of independent tire dealers, "this committee may take some action".

Chairman Patman (D-Tex.) voiced the committee's views after independent tire dealers had flatly accused the large tire manufacturing companies of seeking to drive the independents out of business through price-cutting and other practices.

"We are not saying that as a threat," Patman added.
He prefaced his declaration with the statement he believed distribution of tires should be the exclusive business of independent operators and said "some very high officials in this government x x x believe the same way", but nothing had been done about it.

The Texan said he believed the large tire companies, the mail order houses and the big gasoline concerns distributing tires did not need the revenue they received from tire sales to continue a profitable business, whereas tire sales furnished the main income of the independent dealer.

Buddy Baer Plaintiff in Big Damage Action

Freehold, N. J., Jan. 23—(AP)—Suing for $150,000 damages, Jacob (Buddy) Baer has charged in Monmouth county Common Pleas court that he was crippled as a boxer, perhaps permanently, in an automobile accident which preceded his disastrous bout with Joe Louis January 9.

Howard A. Lawn of Red Bank, counsel for Baer, said today that the suit had been delayed until after the fight rather than jeopardize attendance. Baer was knocked out in the first round of the navy relief fund benefit show at Madison Square Garden.

The bill of complaint, naming Wellington H. Wilkins, Jr., and Wilma H. Wilkins of Tinton Falls as respondents, said the heavy-weight had suffered torn muscles and tendons in the right shoulder area. These made normal use of the right arm impossible and caused its numbness whenever Baer received an ordinary punch on the head or neck, it is alleged.

Mrs. Wilkins was driver of one automobile and Jerry Casale of Oceanport, driver of the one in which Baer rode, when the two machines collided in Eatontown December 14.

Commissioner Howard O. Hunter disclosed that WPA is cooperating with the Social Security Agency and will make jobs available to temporary victims of the conversion of factories for war production, in cases where the worker is ineligible for unemployment compensation benefits. Effective Feb. 1, federal employment offices will certify such workers to WPA. Hunter estimated his agency could take care of 100,000 and said if necessary he would ask congress for additional funds.

About Firemen

St. Paul, Jan. 23—(AP)—Firemen, answering an alarm given over the telephone by a childish voice rushed to two different addresses Thursday without finding a blaze.
Somewhat irked, they traced the call to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wallace. The parents were away, but 7-year-old Floyd was there minding a younger brother. But there was no fire.
The firemen asked some questions.
"Well," Floyd explained, "My folks told me that if there was a fire while they were away I should telephone the fire department and you'd come. I wasn't sure you would so I thought I'd try it out".

Madisonville, Tex., Jan. 23—(AP)—The fire department's using Assistant Chief Whitten as a decoy—and reports good results.

British Astonished

Astonished by the setback, at the peak of the British drive toward Tripolitania, London military quarters suggested heavy aerial reinforcements must have reached the Germans and Italians.

The German high command reported briefly that "German and Italian troops are following up the defeated enemy" and claimed the destruction or capture of 10 British tanks, 46 guns and more than 100 vehicles.

On the soviet front, the retreat of Hitler's battered armies along the Napoleonic road from Moshaisk to Smolensk was further endangered by Russian pincers squeezing down on the "escape corridor" at Vyazma.

Nazis Destroy Museum

Front-line dispatches said Russian troops striking across deep snowdrifts at the German rear guard were only 40 miles from Vyazma and that other Red Army forces were knifing down from the northeast to cut off the main nazi column.

A Red army bulletin announced the capture of Borodino, 12 miles west of Moshaisk, and of Uvarovo, five miles farther west.

At Borodino, the nazis burned the famous Napoleonic museum, destroying relics of Napoleon's battle there with Czar Alexander III's Imperial armies in the winter snows of 130 years ago.

Report on Pearl Harbor Attack Expected Soon

Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—President Roosevelt told a press conference today he expected shortly a report in the investigation into Japan's surprise attack on Pearl Harbor December 7.

An investigating board headed by Associate Justice Roberts of the Supreme court has returned from Hawaii and is preparing the report. Roosevelt was asked whether the findings would be made public and said he did not know.

His statement that the report was due shortly was about the only positive and affirmative statement at the press conference, at which the chief executive parried expertly and with obvious amusement questions on various phases of international and domestic affairs.

He answered yes to only one other inquiry—whether he had signed the Lanham defense housing bill.

ity to take advantage of the flying start achieved by back-alley tactics at Hawaii. The Japs haven't done as well as they should during the seven weeks since they beached the dagger. Despite their game was to have seized the Philippines and other main bases before the allies could get aid to the Orient.

That they haven't done better is a reproach to their military capabilities. One can hardly charge this failure to the German advisers in Tokyo, since they aren't responsible for the quality of the material they have to work with.

There are three outstanding threats to the allied positions in the Orient today, and they are these:

1. Japanese forces have landed in New Guinea, only a hundred miles north of the Australian mainland, and on New Britain island and the solomons to the east. Very naturally this has aroused the gravest concern in Australia, since there is no doubt whatever that the Japanese intend sooner or later to try to annex that continent.

However, such an effort would seem to be a matter of the distant future. Off more immediate concern is the fact that the Japs have acquired in New Guinea a base which may enable them to bring heavy bombing pressure on the neighboring Australian naval and military base of Darwin. This also places a further Japanese barrier across the sea routes from America to Singapore.

2. On the Malay peninsula the allied forces today launched a counter-offensive in an effort to relieve the threat to Singapore. Fierce fighting at close quarters was proceeding, and the best that could be said was that the allied troops were in a tough spot, particularly because of Japanese control of the air. Still, it should be remembered that the citadel of Singapore itself should be able to withstand a long siege.

3. Numerically superior Japanese and Thai forces, which are driving against Burma, today compelled the British to withdraw from the mountains east of Moulmein to points where communications were better. The nature of the threat here already has been explained. Despite this Jap challenge, however, it would be a shocking thing to learn that the British were too weak to hold this vital country. American air fighters, by the way, were patrolling with the British today over Rangoon, the Burmese capital.

Compromise Price

on farm price ceilings.
"Even so, I think this is a good workable bill," he said. "It has the mechanics for halting inflation and uncontrolled price rises."

Bankhead Jubilant
Bankhead, who sponsored the amendment to give the secretary of agriculture a virtual veto power over price ceilings of farm products, was jubilant over conference acceptance of this provision.

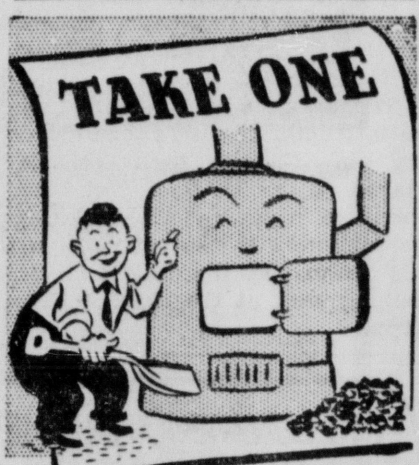

The compromise set prices during the period October 1 to 15 of last year as standards for the price ceilings with the exception of farm prices. In this field the price administrator could not fix ceilings or order reductions below the highest of there: Average farm prices on October 1 or December 15 of last year; average farm prices for the period 1919-29; or 110 per cent of parity prices determined by the department of agriculture.

Eliminated from the compromise version was Senator O'Mahoney's (D-Wyo.) amendment which would have tied farm parity prices to industrial wage levels. President Roosevelt protested that such a move would compel inflation.

Also eliminated was a house provision for a separate appeals board of five members with powers to review and supersede orders of the administrator.

Exports from the U. S. to Mexico for the first ten months of 1941 rose to 104 million dollars, as compared with 67 million dollars for the same period in 1940.

Farm income from marketing and processing payments rose to $1,496,000,000 for October as compared with $1,126,000,000 for the same month in 1940.

Fresh Evidence of Mauling Reds Have Given Nazis Is Seen

AP Paints Picture From Data Given by Well Informed Sources

New York, Jan. 23—(Wide World)—Fresh evidence of the savage mauling which Russia has inflicted on the pride of the nazi military in the last two months, and with it a clearing picture of the situation the United Nations will face in the spring, was made available today by usually well-informed sources here and abroad.

The data included: The nazi air force, which was the world's strongest at the start of the war in September, 1939, has lost—one informant said—65 per cent of its first-line men and planes in the Russian campaign. That figure may be somewhat high, but the losses nevertheless have been enormous. Definite Russian air superiority is now apparent.

Remnants of 120 divisions of the German army (about 1,800,000 men) are now "farmed out" in Germany, France, Norway and the Balkans to rest from the strain of the Russian fighting and to reorganize for a spring offensive—if Hitler is able to launch one.

Germans killed in Russia number about 1,700,000 so far. Another 2,000,000 have been wounded so seriously as to be incapacitated permanently or out of action for a long time.

Red Reserves Big
Russian reserves in Europe (excluding some which could be called from Asia), fully trained, number 3,000,000. Five million more men are in training and will be ready to fight late in the spring.

The Japanese have 500,000 men in Manchouquo ready to strike at a propitious time under the terms of the new axis tripartite pact announced last Sunday. They are faced with a Russian Siberian army estimated at larger than 750,000.

In assessing the results of the fighting in Russia, the plight of the axis, however, must not be considered desperate. The Germans are replenishing their fighting forces at the rate of about 600,000 men annually.

Hitler remains strong in military manpower and in military machines. He has between 200 and 250 divisions (from 3,000,000 to 3,750,000 men) strung out along the Russian front, including reserves of his axis allies.

Of Germany's seven air fleets, two now are back in Germany being rested and conditioned for service under the personal direction of Reichsmarshal Goering. Two others are in the Mediterranean area. Two are still operating in Russia, and one is defending western Europe.

Goering is launching a production drive to increase Germany's airplane output from 2,300 a month to 2,750.

U. S. mint standards provide that for silver coins, deviation from standard weight cannot be more than two-hundredths of an ounce to each $1.00.

Billion Dollar "Pork" Bill Will be Trimmed Down

Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—Congressional leaders were reported today to be drafting substitute legislation for the pending $1,000,000,000 omnibus rivers and harbors bill, eliminating many items bodily and cutting out the navigational features of the proposed St. Lawrence river power and seaway project.

Prospective elimination of the proposed $197,000,000 Florida ship canal, the $66,000,000 Tennessee-Tombigbee waterway and other such extensive projects was expected to trim total authorizations under $400,000,000 in the substitute bill.

Leaders made it plain after conferences with President Roosevelt earlier in the week that they felt it useless to attempt to win congressional approval of the entire billion dollar measure in the face of the stupendous military outlays urged by the president.

Restricted to Power
For this reason they were said to have agreed to restrict the compromise measure largely to hydro-electric power projects needed for the war effort and to the improvement of strategically important harbors.

Their decisions thus would postpone consideration of the navigational aspects of the $277,000,000 St. Lawrence seaway.

Roosevelt urged congress last June to authorize construction of this proposed deep water link between the Great Lakes and the Atlantic, declaring the project would provide 2,200,000 horsepower of hydro-electric current in addition to opening shipways on the lakes to construction of seagoing naval vessels.

Chairman Leland Olds of the Federal Power Commission told a house committee that defense power needs might mount soon to 85 per cent of the powerproduction capacity in the Niagara Falls area, where some of the dams for the St. Lawrence project would be built.

Roosevelt Proposal for Labor Truce May Shelve Lewis' Scheme

Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—A reported proposal from the White House that the A. F. L. and the C. I. O. declare a wartime truce threatened today to side-track John L. Lewis' recent suggestion that the rival labor groups resume their efforts toward unity.

The president was said to have suggested at unannounced conferences with leaders of the rival organizations that the two groups select a joint committee of three members each to meet periodically during the war to settle any factional differences.

Roosevelt also was reported to have asked the committee to confer with him occasionally on production matters, to assure uninterrupted work on the victory program.

The president's reported suggestion was viewed in some quarters as likely to reduce the importance of Lewis in the labor movement. The move appeared to have the support of A. F. L. leaders, who long have been bitter toward Lewis, and the quiet acquiescence of some of Lewis' colleagues in the C. I. O.

The president conferred yesterday with William Green and George Meany, president and secretary, respectively, of the A. F. L., and with Philip Murray, C. I. O. head, Wednesday. Neither conference was publicized by the White House.

The president declined to comment on the subject today at his press conference.

During the term of the first U. S. congress, in the period from 1789 to 1793, the house of representatives had 65 members. Today it has 435.

Attempt to Sabotage Toronto's Protection Against Fire Foiled

Toronto, Jan. 23—(Canadian Press)—Officials said today a widespread effort to sabotage Toronto's fire-fighting facilities in industrial areas had been thwarted with the discovery of 39 damaged hydrants.

Officials said 20 hydrants had been found damaged yesterday and 19 more today in an east-end industrial area near the waterfront. The soft brass spindles on the hydrants had been hammered out of shape so that key wrenches used by the fire department to turn on the water would be of no use.

Army Confidence in Warplanes of U. S. Make Growing

Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—Army confidence in the performance and continuing development of American aircraft was reported to congress today with the message that the nation now is getting both quality and quantity plane production and need not "apologize to anyone in the world".

Combat performances of American-built planes pitted against German Messerschmitts and Japanese fighters—in many cases against heavy odds—were cited by Lieut. Gen. H. H. Arnold, deputy chief of staff for air, to back up that statement before the house appropriations committee.

Testimony Released
In a transcript of that testimony made public by the committee, Arnold was quoted as saying that in plane research and development work, this country was "equal to most nations and ahead of a lot of them", while Brig. Gen. O. P. Echols, in charge of procurement, added:

"I think, from the best information we have, that I can say, without any hesitation, we are up to the Germans, and I think, in certain respects, we are ahead of them. I think the new pursuit planes are the best airplanes in the world, and I think in our heavy bombers that we are ahead of them".

Praises Fliers, Planes

Arnold quoted the British as saying the P-40-D (Kitty Hawk) Pursuit was superior to all the other Royal Air Force planes in the Middle East, and said that one squadron of that type, "up against a superior number", had "knocked down 13 hostile planes, including 2 Messerschmitts 109-F. We lost only one plane".

"During the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7", Arnold continued, "Lieutenant Taylor and Lieutenant Welch, both flying planes similar to the British Tomahawk, attacked a formation of Japanese planes, and each shot down two planes".

"A short time later, Lieutenant Welch engaged two Japanese planes and shot down both of them. Other airplanes of the same type engaged in victorious battle with the Japanese on that day. Every time they went up in combat, they acquitted themselves in excellent manner".

UNCONTESTED DIVORCE

Chicago, Jan. 23—(AP)—Mrs. Elinor Patterson Mark, daughter of Joseph Medill Patterson, publisher of the New York Daily News, obtained an uncontested divorce Saturday in the City Court of suburban Chicago Heights, it was learned today. She and Griffith Mark, of Lake Forest, Ill., were married in 1929 in Greenwich, Conn., where Mrs. Mark still maintains her home.

Tax Collections Disappointing to Federal Officials

Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—Disappointing collections on the new federal excises enacted a few months ago foreshadowed difficulties for congress and the treasury today in their search for $7,000,000,000 more taxes asked by President Roosevelt.

Officials said that the new excises are bringing in far less revenue than expected.

Unless the showing improves, congress will have to raise its sights in drawing this year's tax bill.

Taxes which went into effect last Oct. 1 include those on local telephone bills, jewelry, furs, toilet preparations, musical instruments and electrical appliances. Two of the new taxes have held up expectations. The licenses for bowling alleys and pool tables, expected to yield $1,300,000, already have turned in $1,205,316 in three months. The licenses on slot machines and pinball machines have yielded $4,708,696 and were slated to bring in only $4,600,000. These two taxes differ from the others since they are collected only once a year, while the others are to be collected each month on the basis of sales.

On 14 other taxes, collections in October, November and December amounted to $27,150,000, against an estimate of $272,400,000 in a full year.

Part of this discrepancy was explained as due to the fact that these taxes are paid a month late and since October was the first month, the collections represent really a 2-month rather than a 3-month record. In a few cases, shortage of materials, such as rubber, held back production and sales. On other cases, seasonal factors detracted from the showing. Another official explanation was that people stocked up on things in September to beat the tax.

W. U. Aids in Sale of Defense Stamps

To aid the government in selling U. S. Defense stamps, the Western Union is placing these stamps on sale at 5,000 public telegraph offices throughout the United States. Dixon employees of the Western Union have been instructed in the sale of the stamps and have indicated their enthusiastic cooperation, it was announced by Miss Esther Conley, local manager today. The stamps will be sold in denominations of 10 and 25 cent issues.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau expressed his appreciation of this action by the telegraph company in the following telegram to President A. N. Williams of the Western Union:

"We at the treasury department are very pleased to learn that the Western Union Telegraph company is placing Defense Stamps on sale at its 5,000 offices, and also that your company has instituted the payroll saving plan for Western Union employees. The opening of all your outlets for stamp sales will be a major contribution to the Defense Savings effort and will greatly assist us in our program to stimulate regular bond and stamp purchases by Americans everywhere."

Young People to Conduct Service

The annual Young People's Sunday will be observed in the First Presbyterian church this Sunday, when young people of the congregation will assist the pastor in conducting the service of worship. The general theme of the service will be "Build Today for a Christian World". The point of view of modern young people will be presented by Marie Haefliger who will speak on "Surveying the Field" and Norman Scott who will speak on "Working Together With God". The pastor, Rev. Herbert J. Doran, will speak on "Young People Can Build".

The service will include a reading by Mrs. Henry C. Collock entitled "A Christian World Must Have Christ", during which a cross of candle light will be lit by the following members of the Young People's Society: Virginia Bryant, Frances Bartholomew, Marjorie Fitzgerald, Roger Chapman and Theron Lane. Others taking part in the service of worship will be Vincent Stephenson who will lead in prayer, William Haefliger who will give the call to worship, and Frances Cawford who will lead the responsive Litany of Consecration.

The anthem will be sung by a choir of high school girls and a soprano solo will be sung by Miss Betty Orr. The service is sponsored by Sigma Sigma Chi, young people's organization, of which Miss Alice E. Thomson is president. Miss Thomson will preside at the organ during the service. The public is invited to attend and to hear the message to which these young people have for our own day.

When they are put together well, however, the advertisement tries on warmth and friendliness. It has naturalness. There's nothing forced about it. It has enthusiasm, but it also has a tone of authority and conviction. Often it has that hard to define but decidedly tangible quality known as "color." At its best, it has a quality of simplicity and directness, and it is never monotonous. Good advertising writers know about "change of pace," and they see that their copy possesses it.

Detroit City Workers Postpone Their Strike

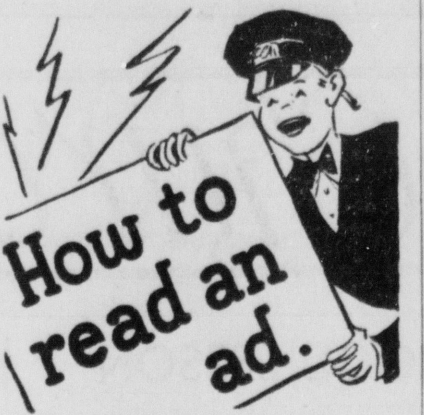

Detroit, Jan. 23—(AP)—Busy buses and street cars carried war-job workers to their factories as usual today with a strike threat by city employees wiped out at least temporarily subsequent to intervention by the war department.

Members of the City Employees Union (A. F. L.) voted at a mass meeting last night to postpone the strike, called for 4 a. m. today, upon being warned by Undersecretary of War Robert F. Patterson that a walkout would "imperil production of planes, tanks and guns".

Union officials said a referendum on a strike would be taken next week—depending on the outcome of further negotiations with city officials over the union's demand for a flat 15 per cent wage increase.

By George B. Anderson

Everyone agrees that good advertising copy is just as entertaining as the most interesting and compelling fiction or the most potent news story. It should be even more interesting because of its direct appeal to us. News stories are interesting because of their indirect effect on us. Fiction is interesting because we can put ourselves in the places of the characters or because they remind us of somebody we know.

Advertising makes no such round-about appeal. It interests us because of what it offers us.

Everybody agrees that good advertising copy has interest and color, but almost no two people agree on how to get it. All they agree on is that it's achieved with words. No two people put words together in exactly the same sequence, for which we can all be thankful.

When they are put together well, however, the advertisement tries on warmth and friendliness. It has naturalness. There's nothing forced about it. It has enthusiasm, but it also has a tone of authority and conviction. Often it has that hard to define but decidedly tangible quality known as "color." At its best, it has a quality of simplicity and directness, and it is never monotonous. Good advertising writers know about "change of pace," and they see that their copy possesses it.

Good advertising copy is easy to read because advertisers know that you won't be nearly so receptive to their products or service if you are bored or irritated by what they have to say. They want you to consider their proposals under the most favorable possible circumstances, which is good business on their part and is certainly fortunate for people who are interested in obtaining the information which advertising makes available.

National Association of Farmers Is Formed

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23—(AP)—Delegates representing several farm organizations formed the National Association of Farmers here last night to oppose the wheat quota and penalty provisions of the agricultural adjustment act.

Sponsors said the organization was intended as a clearing house for various farm groups established to oppose the quota and penalty provisions. Among the 50 delegates were representatives of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Kansas and New York organizations.

Commencement at Cooking School Feature of Day

Homemakers will be sure to raise their personal rating as cooks and housekeepers, following their "graduation" at the Telegraph's eighth annual cooking school, which was scheduled to hold its "commencement" session this afternoon at the Dixon theater.

A few of the many helps that will boost the homemaker's status in her own eyes and those of her family will pertain to preparation of wholesome yet inexpensive menus, the proper cooking of plain vegetables, the making of fluffy pastry for two-crust pies, diet hints, and new ways of presenting less costly foods—all offered by Mrs. George Thurn, nationally-known lecturer and home economist, who has presided during the big four-day session.

Besides practical angles of food or budget shortcuts, the course has included spectacular but "reasonable" items for party menus and fancy, yet simple dishes to be concocted from the pantry shelf when unexpected dinner guests drop in.

Presentations Made
The stage of the Dixon theater has become a model kitchen, dining room and laundry for the occasion.

Mrs. Curtis Taylor was presented with a year's supply of Rinsol yesterday, as winner of an exciting "Rinsol" game contrived by Mrs. Thurn. Mrs. Rachel Williams of 517 Van Buren avenue received a chicken up-side-down pie demonstrated by "Aunt Mazie", and filled market baskets went to the following:

Gable Will Seek Solace in Labor

Hollywood, Jan. 23—(AP)—Clark Gable, turned from a swashbuckling, carefree prankster into a depressed, grief-stricken recluse by the tragic death of Carole Lombard, will seek solace in work.

The fun-loving screen star was so anguished by loss of his beautiful blonde wife that he wanted only to be alone. Shielded by studio executives, Gable has been so alone that friends became alarmed at his depressed brooding.

Gable hasn't yet gone to his Encino ranch where he and Carole lived so fully and joyously. He's in seclusion at a friend's home. He has left it only twice since he brought Miss Lombard's body home Wednesday morning—to attend the funeral services for her and her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth K. Peters, that afternoon, and services for his friend and publicity man, Otto Winkler, yesterday.

"You've got to find something to occupy your time: something to do with your mind besides brood", friends told him.

Gable agreed to go ahead with the picture on which he had done one day's work — "Somewhere I'll Find you". He didn't set the date and the studio didn't ask him to.

CULTIVATION

The highest purpose of intellectual cultivation is, to give a man a perfect knowledge and mastery of his own inner self.

—Novalis

Culture would not be culture if it were not an acquired taste.

That is true cultivation which gives us sympathy with every form of human life, and enables us to work most successfully for its advancement.

—Henry Ward Beecher.

Nurseries of character should be strongly garrisoned with virtue. School-examinations are one-sided; it is not so much academic education, as a moral and spiritual culture, which lifts one higher.

—Mary Baker Eddy.

That alone can be called true refinement which elevates the soul of man, purifying the manners by improving the intellect.

—Coleridge.

The primary indication, to my thinking, of a well-ordered mind is a man's ability to remain in one place and linger in his own company.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Triumph of Jesus Over Temptations Gives Men Strength to Conquer Evil

Text: Matthew 4:1-11

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

The story of the temptation of Jesus, about which much mystery has been attached, is easy of comprehension if we approach it with sufficient directness. Remember the true humanity of Jesus and keep in mind the characteristic temptations which have assailed those who were capable of great achievement and to whom was entrusted great power.

We should never forget the divinity of Jesus was revealed in a truly human life. The writer of the Epistle to the Hebrews has stressed in many ways the fact that Jesus took on Him our full humanity, and that He was "in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin."

If we do not grasp this fact of the true humanity of Jesus and that He was capable of being tempted, we are led into all manner of unreal and speculative interpretations of the story of the temptation.

We have here three temptations recorded — temptations coming at the outset of the ministry of Jesus, and at a time following a period of fasting when He was peculiarly subject to temptation. It would be a mistake to think of temptation in the life of Jesus as confined entirely to this early experience.

As a matter of fact, we see the crucial temptation that came at the very end of His earthly life, when He prayed earnestly that the cup might pass and was tempted to renounce His mission, temptation over which He triumphed in the prayer, "Not my will, but thine be done."

This early temptation, however, had a significance no temptation in an intervening period could have had. The decision in this hour of trial meant the complete acceptance of His mission and the vanquishing of the tempter. In almost every life there is some great temptation the overcoming of which means a signal victory and the determination.

Dixon and Harmon Golden Glovers in Finals Last Night

Win Way to Rockford Matches Next Monday and Tuesday Eves

Dixon and Harmon boxers, by winning their bouts in last night's Golden Gloves contest at Sterling, won their way to the Rockford meeting next Monday and Tuesday.

Ray Hicks, hard-punching Harmon 126-pounder who upset Mickey Grothe of Kewanee a week ago, claimed the open division championship when his final opponent, Jimmy Canavan of Savanna, failed to appear. Hicks won the title by default.

Grothe Wins Exhibition
Grothe returned to the Coliseum ring and defeated William Conrad of the Stockton CCC camp in a three round exhibition.

Robert Osborne, Kewanee welterweight, won the open division title in the 147-pound class by beating Leo Froeliger of Prophetstown. Osborne and Froeliger were the only entrants in their division.

A novice 112-pounder named Pancho Villa from Wethersfield beat Loren Andrews of Kewanee for the novice championship after both fighters advanced to the finals unopposed.

In the first two novice lightweight battles John Thomas of Dixon defeated Andrew Dixon of Stockton in three rounds and Barney Marshall of Dixon registered a second round technical knockout over Charles Watkins of Walnut.

Sterling Lightweight Wins
Watkins had a wide edge in points in the first and second rounds before Marshall connected with a wild jab to Watkins' jaw just before the bell. Watkins was unable to answer the bell for the third and final session.

Lyle Holy, a Sterling high school 135-pounder, continued his winning ways and defeated Robert Hannon of Sterling in another novice lightweight bout. Holy and Hannon turned in a toe-to-toe slugfest match that pleased the large crowd.

Bobby Sloan of Kewanee, fighting as a 126-pound novice, took a split decision from James Harris of Stockton.

The novice middleweight championship went to Clarence Dickey of Rock Falls, who knocked out Robert Lewis of Kewanee with a barrage of punches in the first round. Lewis entered the 160-pound finals by scoring a technical knockout in the first round over Abe Downing of Deer Grove after one minute and two seconds of battling. Downing injured his arm swinging and the bout was stopped. Lewis was the only boxer forced to fight twice tonight.

Dukes Meet Sterling Here This Evening

Dixon basketball fans expect one of the biggest thrills of the season when the Dukes meet Sterling Township on the local high school floor this evening. The Dukes will be out to avenge the defeat they suffered at the hands of the visitors earlier in the season.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Jan. 23—(Wide World)—The war already has landed some sports folks in places they never expected to be (including the army)...Charles Reilly, Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch sports editor, had to suspend his column for a few days to help the news staff cover the sub raids off the Carolina coast...Turf expert Oscar Otis of the San Francisco Chronicle keeps his hand in by flying to Agua Caliente Sundays after taking in prep basketball games...Chicago's colony of major league ball players have formed the "Pitch and Hit" club to aid in the sale of defense bonds. Ted Lyons is president.

Sportpourri

In addition to his other accomplishments, Joe Louis has become quite an impromptu speaker...He doesn't go in for many two-syllable words, but he always says something that is appropriate and in good taste...Dick Barker, the Iowa just signed as football coach at Franklin & Marshall College, was "drafted" twice to coach Sweden's Olympic wrestlers...According to Bill Killifer, the Phillies are looking for a set of pitchers who can rotate...Seems that's what they always did—face the plate to pitch and then rotate toward the outfield to see where the ball would land.

Today's Guest Star

Francis E. Stan, Washington Star: "The sport (?) that figures to be aided most by the war is wrestling. The burpers play a poor man's game. The racket was dead until the last depression, when it came to life while the $2.20, $4.40, $6.80, etc., sports collapsed, and now there is snister talk that it will revive".

Postman's Paragraph

Corporal Bill Hartnett (Miami 40) of Fort Meade, Md., puts in a boost for the University of Miami footballers who all contributed to the Dade county (Fla.) blood bank...A bloody good bunch of American boys", says Bill...Tony Constantine, sports ed. of the Morgantown (W. Va.) Post, calls attention to the foul shooting of Shorty Hicks, West Virginia U. basketball player. In three seasons, Shorty has missed only eight of 63 shots from the free throw line.

No Strikes to Spare

When he discovered that six Detroit bowlers had rolled perfect games of early December, W. W. Edgar of the Free Press organized a "300" Club to record the perfect games in sanctioned competition. In more than a month since then he hasn't been able to add a new name to the roster.

Boston Bruins Miss Chance to Go Ahead

(By The Associated Press)
The defending champion Boston Bruins still shared the lead in the National Hockey League today after missing a chance to move out in front.
At Detroit, the Red Wings turned back the Bruins, 4-3, and jumped into fifth place ahead of the Brooklyn Americans, who slipped back a notch by losing to the Black Hawks, 4-2, at Chicago.
By whipping the Americans, the Black Hawks pulled within two points of the idle third place Toronto Maple Leafs.

About 90 per cent of Illinois' total area is included in farm lands, and of this, about 80 per cent is improved.

No Exercise

New York, Jan. 23—(AP)—Heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis, now an army private, was asked if he got a chance to exercise at Camp Upton.
"No," replied Joe, who has his own ideas about exercise. "I just drill two hours in the morning and two in the afternoon."

Even large icebergs will melt in a single day when they reach the warm Gulf Stream.

Hoppe Can Retain Billiards Title By Winning This Eve

Jake Schaeffer Defeats Cochran After Latter Had Great Rally

Chicago, Jan. 23—(AP)—If it weren't for Jake Schaeffer, Walker Cochran could have ended Willie Hoppe's two-year reign as king of three-cushion billiards by beating the champ tonight.

But all because of Jake, Cochran must down Hoppe not once but twice straight to wrench away his crown.

Cochran's defeat by Schaeffer last night prevented the San Francisco "tits" from maintaining a tie for first with the defending titlist, in which case tonight's Cochran-Hoppe match would have meant the crown for the winner.

Because of the Cleveland player's upset triumph, Hoppe can retain his championship by a victory tonight, while the best Cochran can do by winning will be to tie Willie in the final standings, forcing a playoff Monday.

Final Margin 50 to 28

Schaeffer, runnerup to Hoppe in 1940 and 1941, raced away from Cochran at the start and after 25 innings was in front, 25-15. The final margin, reached in 37 innings, was 50 to 28.

In the afternoon Cochran had made one of the great rallies of billiards history to trounce Otto Reisel of Philadelphia, 50 to 45, in 73 innings. It was a resumption of a contest broken off in the 39th inning Tuesday when Cochran suffered a stomach ailment. At that time Reisel was ahead, 34 to 17.

Willie kept his tournament record in order last night by defeating Joe Chamaco of Mexico City, 50 to 46, in 42 innings, thereby eliminating the Mexican from title consideration.

Today Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago faced Chamaco and Ralph Greenleaf of Monmouth, Ill., opposed Schaeffer in the final matches for all four. The Hoppe-Cochran bout was the only one on the evening card.

At Stake at Macomb

Macomb, Ill., Jan. 23—(AP)—First place in the Illinois Intercollegiate Conference will be at stake when Illinois Normal opposes Western State Teachers here tonight.
Normal, triumphant over Eureka and Northern Teachers in its only league games thus far, will be confronted by a Macomb quintet which has engaged in only one conference start. The Leathernecks defeated Eastern Teachers, 43 to 37.

In all games Western Teachers has won three and lost one, scoring 183 points to its opponents' 171. The single defeat was administered last Saturday by Iowa Teachers, 40 to 35.

Normal has a season's mark of seven victories and three setbacks, and has scored 419 points to its foes' 365.
Two members of the I. C. C. were victorious in non-conference games last night. Northern Teachers won from Chicago Teachers, 42 to 27, while Eastern Teachers downed the touring Mexico City Y. M. C. A. quintet, 53 to 43, at Charleston.

Says Government Must Guarantee Farm Labor

St. Louis, Jan. 23—(AP)—The government must assure farmers a supply of experienced labor if increased production demanded by the "Food for Victory" program is to be met.
This was the assertion of Earl C. Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural Association and vice-president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, who addressed the 20th annual meeting of the Producers Livestock Commission Association yesterday.

Smith pointed out that migration of workers to industrial areas and induction into the army of others had caused an acute shortage of farm labor.

Second Unit State School at Sheridan To Be Started Soon

Gunning Commissions in Meeting Thursday Make Important Decisions

Chicago, Jan. 23.—(AP)—State officials have decided to start work immediately on the second unit of the Sheridan, Ill., branch of the Illinois State Training School for Boys.

Rodney H. Brandon, state welfare director, said the decision was reached following a vote at a joint meeting of the Illinois State Training School for Boys Commission and the Youth Offenders Commission, both of which are headed by State Senator Thomas P. Gunning of Princeton. Brandon and Russell W. Ballard, the school's managing officer, also attended the meeting.

Brandon said the second Sheridan unit would be operated on what he termed a "sliding scale of security," which would enable boys, through good behavior, to be transferred from unit No. 1, equipped with cells, to unit No. 2, where dormitories and other privileges would be available to them.

The commissioners also voted, Brandon said, to send to the Sheridan branch, only those boys who considered incorrigibles—those whose presence at the main school near St. Charles would endanger other inmates.

To Determine Age Limits
He said a committee would be appointed to determine the age limits of youths sent to the two branches. It was understood, however, a plan would be considered under which youths under 17 would be committed to the school near St. Charles and those from 17 to 21 to the Sheridan branch.

Without taking any definite action, the commission members discussed requests from 60 inmates of the training school that they be permitted to join the army or navy.

Another committee was appointed to work on the priority question with the federal government to make it possible to obtain beds and other facilities, the lack of which, spokesmen at the meeting said, has caused a delay in opening the Sheridan branch. Among members named to this committee were Senator Gunning, State Sen. Arnold P. Benson (R-Batavia) and Rep. Tom M. Garman (D-Urbana).

Provisions of New Law Welcome Here

A new Illinois law which provides a plan for the payment of delinquent taxes on an installment plan, is reported to be meeting with great success in Lee county, according to a statement made by County Treasurer Ward Miller today. He referred to House Bill 45 which provides for installment payments in counties of less than 500,000 inhabitants of delinquent real estate taxes and the remission of penalties and interest accrued and accruing.

This act provides for five installment payments by any owner of real estate on which there is any amount of past due taxes as of Jan. 1, 1942, and that he may, on or before Sept. 1, 1942, petition the county collector for the benefits of the act. The real estate owner shall stipulate a day that he will, on or before Oct. 15, 1942, tender the first installment or the past due taxes and agree to pay taxes for the year 1941 on or before Sept. 1, 1942, and thereafter each year during the five years, pay the current yearly tax together with the yearly installment amount, Treasurer Miller explained.

He urged any having delinquent real estate taxes in Lee county to apply at his office for complete information concerning the new plan where the necessary forms may be obtained to permit the delinquent taxpayer to take advantage of this saving.

Illinois State Fair To Be Held Aug. 4-23

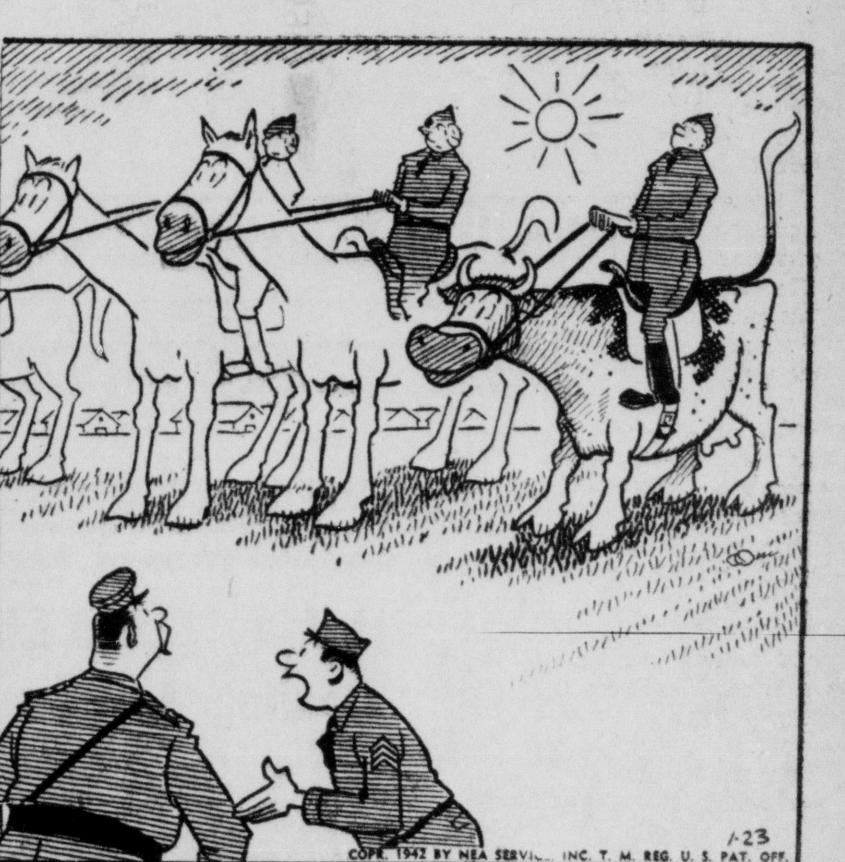

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23.—(AP)—There'll be an Illinois State Fair from Aug. 14 to 23 this year, even if it is necessary to move it to some other location than the fairgrounds here.

The suggestion that the fair might have to be transferred to another city came from Howard Leonard, state director of agriculture, who explained the war department has entered into a tentative agreement to convert the fairgrounds into an aviation ground school.

Leonard said requests had been made to Washington, however, that the state be given use of the grounds for fair purposes during August.

Governor Green and other state officials have decided the fair shall continue, Leonard said, because they consider it a good morale-builder. Paid attendance at the 1941 fair was 624,000 in nine days.

Aims and Purposes of Red Cross Nurse Aide Corps Are Told

Volunteers in Emergency Organization Serve Only at Hospital

Because of the apparent confusion connected with the announcement and enrollment of the American Red Cross Nurses' Aide Corps it seems wise at this time to more fully interpret the aims and objects of this splendid and valuable course now being offered to the women of this community.

Due to the national emergency all graduate nurses, such as are on the staff of the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital, will be subject to call in the U. S. Army. It is therefore necessary that, as a part of our Civilian Defense program, arrangements must be made to train a corps of women to serve as volunteer aides to nurses that remain on the staff. All aides must work under supervision of a nurse and as assistant to a nurse at all times, and never as independent workers.

All women who become qualified for the Lee County Nurses' Aide Corps will work only at the local hospital and will not be subject to call in the Army. There has been some misunderstanding in this respect. Applicants need not hesitate to become members of the Corps if they are not at liberty to leave the city. Aides will be needed in Dixon while graduate nurses will be needed in the regular army.

At the time of enrollment each applicant is given a form to be completed by her private physician. These forms are then returned to the hospital, the place of enrollment. The application and physician's report are then sent to the Red Cross Mid Western Area Office at St. Louis, Missouri where the application is either accepted or rejected. Under no circumstances does the applicant herself appear before the board in St. Louis.

This course is strictly volunteer and neither the aides nor instructors receive any remuneration. The local instructor is willing and prepared to give generously of her own time to the teaching of this course. Because she must maintain her own duties in the hospital it is necessary that classes be arranged during her off time. This means that she will give up her social and private duties to the conducting of the course, a generous contribution to the Civilian Defense of our city.

150 hours of service per year must be given by an aide after the satisfactory completion of the 80 hour course. This is preferably given in a 3 month period. It is impossible to list all of the authorized duties of the Aides in our local hospital. She may make visits for the nurses to obtain information or give routine instructions, but not for teaching or nursing purposes. She will perform such duties as make beds, take care of flowers, personal belongings, take temperature, pulse and respiration, prepare patients for meals, help remove and apply casts bandages and slings, assist patient in walking.

Because it is felt the enrollment in the Nurses' Aide Corp should not be closed before all prospective members of the course know more of the details, registration will again be accepted on Monday afternoon, Jan. 28th at the K. S. B. Hospital.

Highway Officials See Motoring Cut In Half This Year

Predict Greater Need for Bicycle Paths Than Highways

Chicago, Jan. 23—(AP)—Illinois highway officials paint a gloomy picture of future automobile transportation and road building including a 50 per cent reduction in motoring by the end of the year and possibly a greater need for bicycle paths than for superhighways before the war ends.

Matt Fleming, chief engineer of the Illinois highway department, who with other state officials attended the annual Mississippi Valley Conference of State Highway Officials here, reported yesterday that the volume of travel on main highways in Illinois had already shrunk 15 per cent since the attack on Pearl Harbor. He predicted with others that passenger car operation by the end of the year would be 50 per cent less than last year.

Fleming said he believed revenue from the Illinois gasoline tax in 1942 would drop 35 per cent below that of 1941.

Jack Palmer, assistant director of the Department of Public Works and Buildings, declared "before the war is ended we may need bicycle paths more than we need superhighways. It's no jesting matter. Washington officials don't even see where there's going to be enough rubber for workers to travel between the arms plants and their homes. The workers may have to live in tents or barracks near munition factories."

No Postwar Plans
"Under these conditions we certainly can't plan now for postwar construction. We don't know what year this will be. We don't know how many automobiles will be owned under postwar economic conditions. We can't estimate how much money will be available for road building."

Director Walter A. Rosenfield said that for the duration of the war road construction probably would be limited to requirements of the army, navy and the war production board. He said he believed in this category would be included a modernization of important routes, such as U. S. 66 between Chicago and St. Louis, that are used for defense industries.

"Authoritative reports from Washington," he said "indicate that the ordinary civilian uses of passenger cars will be ended as present tires wear out. They will be ended until the Japanese are beaten in the far Pacific, and this date can't be estimated."

66 Illinois Airplane Pilots Members CAP

Chicago, Jan. 23—(AP)—Sixty-six Illinois airplane pilots, including three women, have been admitted to the Civil Air Patrol by Washington headquarters.

Jack Vilas, Illinois Wing commander, who received notice of their certification yesterday, said they would be sworn into service and assigned to specific duties as soon as possible. He said at least 500 additional Illinois applications were under consideration in Washington.

The Illinois wing of C. A. P. is a branch of the Office of Civilian Defense and is separate from the Illinois Reserve Militia air corps.

Two More Defense Courses Obtained By Engineers Soc.

Classes in Subjects of Electricity Meet at Dixon High School

Two additional defense training courses have been obtained for Dixon and vicinity by Rock River Chapter of the Illinois Society of Engineers. A class in "Elements of Electrical Engineering" will be started on Friday of next week. This class will meet one day a week, at 7:00 p. m. on Fridays, in the Dixon high school. The class will last for three hours and will cover a total of sixty-six hours for the course. The instructor is L. T. Sampson, president of the Rock River Chapter of I. S. E. The advance enrollment is in the neighborhood of thirty-five.

The second course "Electrical Circuits", will meet twice weekly at 7:00 p. m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays, in the Dixon high school. The sessions will also be for three hours, covering a total of 108 hours for the course. The instructor will be H. C. Bartholomew of the engineering staff of the Illinois Northern Utilities Company. The enrollment for this course is about the same as for the other course.

These courses are offered through the extension division of the University of Illinois, and are made possible by an appropriation by the federal government. There are no fees or other charges made for the courses. The students furnish their own texts, which may be obtained at Edward Book Store. The purpose of these courses is to train men for more responsible positions, or to refresh men who have already had the basic training. It is known that one of the bottlenecks in industry has been the lack of a sufficient number of technically trained personnel, and it is the purpose of such courses to make more trained men available if and when they are required.

Other Courses Possible
It is possible that other courses will be offered in the future, some of which at least will be more of Civilian Defense type, such as the course in "Sanitary Engineering for Emergencies" which was started on Dec. 1st. This course has now reached the half way mark, and is of great value in training a group of engineers for sanitary service under emergency conditions. The original enrollment in this class was 32, which was increased by several late registrants. The average attendance has been over 25 for the first half of the course.

The instructors in this course have been engineers and medical men from the State Health Department. It is expected that several of the faculty of the University of Illinois will appear at later sessions. It is planned that the group will make an inspection trip to the Dixon Sewage Disposal Plant and to the Dixon State Hospital sewage treatment plant for first hand information along these lines.

The sponsors of these courses, the Rock River Chapter of the Illinois Society of Engineers which to thank the board of education of Dixon, the Superintendent of Schools, A. H. Lancaster, the engineering staff of the Illinois North Utilities Company, and many others who have assisted in making possible these courses. Their continued cooperation will guarantee the ultimate success of the ventures, and will be an important factor in the Civilian Defense of this community.

Brandon Calls 25 Per Cent of State Mental Cases Sane

Chicago, Jan. 23—(AP)—State Welfare Director Rodney H. Brandon, asserting that 25 per cent of persons committed to mental institutions in Illinois were "socially sane", believes "the time has come when the Department of Welfare and county judges should sit down together and reach a common sense solution of this problem."

Offering the free services of state psychiatrists and social workers to Illinois county and private judges in deciding borderline cases, Brandon told them last night at the annual convention of their association that "many thousands in Illinois mental institutions are not insane."

"During the period that the state population has doubled, the population of Illinois mental institutions has increased eight times," he said. "A continuation of this condition is obviously impossible."

Brandon urged attempts be made to board in private homes at state expense cases of senility which formerly resulted in commitments to mental institutions. He said the state was prepared to pay $22.50 monthly for the private care of these persons. The figure, he said, represented the per capita cost of caring for patients in institutions.

He said the state was devoting special attention to cases of alcoholism, but as yet was "not equipped to treat it adequately."

Loading of revenue freight for the week ended November 29 totaled $66,189 cars, an increase of 18.9 per cent over the corresponding week in 1940.
